Last night i tried to install MsgPlus on my pc, but it downloaded and when i pressed install it came up with the error message:

The windows registry couldn't be opened with write access. Please login with administrative rights to install this software.

This is my family's pc and we all have seperate accounts, which are all admin accounts. I tried to log on as "administrator" on the welcome screen, but got the error message:

Unable to logon because of an account restriction.

Does anyone know what I should do?? Please email me vicky_loz@hotmail.com if you do!
