I tried to schedule tasks, and found out I needed an admin password, but don't know what it is....so I started looking around...

eventually, messed things up I think.

Now, I start my CPU and after the HOME EDITIONS black screen disappears, the blue screen either just sits there trying to start and nothing happens or sometimes the logon in popup message pops in and tells me it is unable to log me in due to account restrictions....

I think I have to take off the entire program and reload it?

Can you tell I am nieve about computers?

Thanks, Brenda, las vegas
