

Denied Admin privileges even though I'm signed on as admin

Source:

http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.windowsxp.security_admin/2003-06/1507.html

From: TNRebel (rebel_tn_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 06/17/03

Date: Mon, 16 Jun 2003 18:35:00 -0700

Well I ended up having to reinstall XP & it now works great. Thanks Kool-Aide for your suggestion. I see Microsoft tech didn't bother to answer this one.

>-----Original Message-----

>You can try making another account besides administrator >and giving that account administrator access by going to >control panel and clicking user accounts. Then after you >click make new account give the account administrator >privileges. If that doesn't work I don't know what else to >say... kinda tired I am about to go to bed. Hope that >helps.

>

>

>>-----Original Message-----

>>I have just installed XP Pro, I created a password & have >>signed on by typing administrator and entering password
>>at the Welcome screen by pressing Alt-Ctrl-del twice.
>>When I try to install software example: a popup stopper >>and Netscape 7.2 or Acrobat Reader I get error saying I >>don't have permission to install software. I have also >>tried to find the elusive "security tab" that grants >>permission to users by right clicking a file,properties,
>>But it is not listed. I also turned off "Simple file >>sharing" that didn't cause the security tab to appear >>either. Also when I installed XP I wasn't given any >>security options to choose for admin.
>>During install I was only given 2 file systems to choose >>from NTFS quick or NTFS slow. I checked in My Computer &
>>it shows that I have NTFS.
>>this is a full version of XP Pro with a clean install.
>>I am tempted to try reinstalling, but have already >>activated via online, but never saw a large set of >>numbers to write down as opposed to phone activation. Are >>these numbers necessary to reinstall?

microsoft.public.windowsxp.security_admin: Denied Admin privileges even though I'm signed on as admin

>>Can anyone help me with this problem?
>>I would like to finish installing my software so that I >>can get on with work.
>>Thank You!
>>
>>
>
>