Ben,

Did you by chance run SpyBot's Immunize feature?

"Lock IE control panel against opening from within IE (current user)"

Please start Spybot-S&D again in advanced mode (usually from the Start menu group Spybot - Search & Destroy, until you've already changed the desktop icon to advanced mode), and go to the Immunize page.

There you'll see a group Recommended miscellaneous options. Untick the checkboxes in front of both Lock IE... options. You may need to close all Explorer windows, and maybe even restart Windows before these changes take place.

If the above doesn't apply

There may be a Registry restriction in place?

<http://www.mvps.org/winhelp2002/UnlockNoBrowserOptions.reg>

Download, right-click and select: Edit (to view in Notepad)

Right-click and select: Merge (to enter the info into the Registry)

[or]

Start | Run (type) "regedit" (no quotes)

Scroll down to the following location:

[HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\Policies\Microsoft\Internet Explorer\Restrictions]

"NoBrowserOptions"=dword:00000001

If the above entry exists: "NoBrowserOptions"

Click "Registry" (up top) select: "Export" (export = copy)

Enter a filename (hint) - NoBrowserOptions

Click Save, highlight the "NoBrowserOptions" entry in the right pane.

Right-click and select: Delete, close Regedit and reboot.

[more info]

Clicking "Internet Options" on the Tools Menu Returns Error Message
