I've been getting a lot of recent "Success Audits" under the user "Guest" and "ANONYMOUS USER" under my security log. I know a lot of the background services use "Local" and "System" user logons, but what about the first two? My guest account is disabled.

Is this normal or am I being tampered with?

Also, another audit showed that the system policy has changed for the admin. It says that my user name did it, although I don't know how it was done. How do I manage group policy or local security policy in WinXP Home when the MMC snap-in doesn't have those consoles?
