I had dled and installed a XP theme which I uninstalled as soon as I was done installing it(right after which the puter restarted and it's this problem started). But now I am unable to switch users on my pc. I can only log in as admin. And I have no idea how to unlock the puter so that I can switch users. The most recent error that I see is a Userenv.dll error. I thought maybe it was a pw screensaver thing but the reg looks good so I don't think it's that... Thoughts help ? Anything ?
