Hello Jon,

I have a couple of questions --

1. You said the online Panda scanner found several infected files, can you tell me what viruses they were infected with? This may help us determine if you are still being affected by these viruses even though the files were quarantined.
2. Are you using a Wireless Keyboard and are there other users near you who are using wireless keyboards? If there are it is possible you are getting crosstalk between the two keyboards. I have experienced this myself.

Best regards,
