Okay, I tried those things and still have problems. This one really is confusing me, here is where I'm at:

On two different folders, in the D: drive, with identical settings:

Owner is set to Administrators

As for permissions:

Administrators – Full control, not inherited

Everyone – Full control, except take ownership –inherited from D:

MyUsername(also an admin) – Full control, except take ownership – inherited from D:

-----
both these folders have identical settings, yet i can access D:\Folder1, but NOT D:\Folder2. EVERY setting is the same. what gives?

Is there any way to just erase all ownership and permissions and just have everything accessible to everyone,even with me being the only user on this machine?!?

Thanks guys,
Pete
