Reading this question and responses has been very revealing. I have been angry and frustrated the past week, trying to clear problems that began after installing NIS 2005. I have tried a dozen fixes, from manipulating firewalls, reinstalling, conferences with techreps, and a new modem. Now I have just about decided to uninstall NIS, ask for a refund, and try either McAfee or some of the other programs recommended in this discussion. Many thanks to all contributors here for confirming that I am not the only person in the universe who has had these infuriating problems with Norton. I never had problems with Norton Antivirus, but I have reached the end of my patience with NIS 2005.

| Hi all,

| I've been a fan of Norton for the past 6 years but after several system problems with 3 installs of NIS 2005, I'm beginning to lose faith. Anyone recommend a good alternative that is stable and more importantly, does the job ? Anyone have anything good/bad to say about Kaspersky, Sophos or AVG ?

| TIA.
