If I were you I would delete that program and get to system restore ASAP. This may be too late but if you don't have experince dealing with viruses and mailware you should reinstall Windows ASAP if system restore fails. You might have someone trying to pull an attack on you. Trust me a little tiome spent reinstalling your software is a cake walk compared to that. I am sorry if this scares you but there is no time to be polite. You have to make a decision. Let us know how you are. Best of luck. Ron J
