The first thing we have to figure out is what have you changed!

Are your drives formatted in NTFS?

HELP

Subject: I am an ADMINISTRATOR but computer won't recognize me! HELP

Ok guys my problem is also involved with video games. I tried to install Steam (a program that runs Sierra games such as Counter-Strike) but when i try to install it this thing pops up

"You do not have access to make the required system configuration modifications. Please return this installation from an administrators account."

Ok guys I also tried to install this game "World Of Warcraft." I tried to install both these games but the computer keeps blocking! When i try to insteall Steam that note pops up (see above). When i try to install World Of Warcraft, the installation bar stops and remains at the middle. I left it installing for the whole night last night. When i woke up the bar is still at the middle , like 50%.

Ok so anyway, all of this is because of the Administrator access problem. I have checked other topics that relates to this problem but it didn't solve my problem.

Yes i have restarted into Safe Mode and logged in with the real "Administrator" account in safe mode. I tried to install Steam and World of Warcraft then the note popped up again! YES IN SAFE MODE IN ADMINISTRATOR ACCOUNT! I tried to install World Of Warcraft and YES IT STILL KEEPS FREEZING! STUCK IN 50%!

Ok guys I am only 16 years old, i am not really very good at computers, but i have been using computers for like 4 years now. So yes just tell me what to do step by step to get rid of this problem and get the administrator access.

I only have one account on my computer and it is already an administrator. I just don't know how to solve this problem. Please help me! Even my mom and dad can't help me because they are not good with computers.

I really need your help guys... i am begging you. Please!

Thanks in advance..
