Phillip,

I am having the identical problem in 2007. It sounds like you know pretty much what you are doing, and I'm sure you fixed it by now. It appears that I have 1 bulged capacitor. It's been that way for 3 years and worked fine, until now. I am confident that is the issue as I have swapped known good drives. You are right, there is no safe mode to go to or even repairing or reinstalling the OS. I'm also frustrated that I now have to either buy a new MB or admit it's close enough to obsolete and strip it.
