I have a dell computer that is running windows 98. that has been updated some what. I want to redo it and install windows xp on it but this norton anti virus was installed by some one elose and has the password set on just it so it wont let me intall windows xp. does any body know how to do this. or unlock it because it wont even let me remove the norton without the password. (please help)

The default password for uninstalling Symantec Anti-virus Corporate Edition is "symantec." If it wasn't changed, you should be able to remove it.
