

Re: Surviving Einstein.

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/sci.crypt/2003-06/1529.html>

From: Paul Schlyter (pausch_at_saaf.se)

Date: 06/30/03

Date: Mon, 30 Jun 2003 07:31:53 +0000 (UTC)

In article <bdn1vc$rmr$1@hercules.btinternet.com>, Simon Johnson <ckwop@hotmail.com> wrote:

> I think the nature really is random and the minds of people who can't > see this beauty have trouble letting go of determinism.

It's that way because it's predetermined to be that way.... <g>

Seriously though, we cannot tell whether the universe is predetermined or if it contains genuine randomness. All we can do is believe one way or another....

And beauty is in the eyes of the beholder you think randomness is beautiful, while I see the beauty in e.g. being able to tell when the next solar eclipses happen where I live (or anywhere else), even centuries into the future! (sadly, my home town Stockholm won't see another total solar eclipse until some time in the 2900's ---- but at least I know that).

--

Paul Schlyter, Grev Turegatan 40, SE-114 38 Stockholm, SWEDEN
e-mail: pausch at stockholm dot bostream dot se
WWW: <http://www.stjarnhimlen.se/>
<http://home.tiscali.se/pausch/>