

Re: (N)ever (S)ay (A)nything – Any ideas ??

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/sci.crypt/2005-06/1991.html>

From: Douglas A. Gwyn (DAGwyn_at_null.net)

Date: 06/28/05

Date: Tue, 28 Jun 2005 00:05:53 -0400

Galathas wrote:

- > what are Your ideas about NSA development nowadays ?? Are they able
- > just now to break any cipher text ?? :-) What are their possibilities
- > today ??

Roughly half the "modern" systems can be broken under favorable circumstances. Note also that there are methods of system cracking other than "pure" analysis.

- > And what are your suggestions & tips to strike them (and
- > other government based "inet personal data mining & logging & analyzing"
- > authorities) down, do not allow them to read and analyze our private
- > emails, files that we are sending throught inet or other valuable
- > personal data...??

If you're not actively conspiring to cause harm to others, you don't have to worry about the NSA. You might want to worry more about identity theft by criminals. It's already a serious problem and is likely to get much worse. To avoid it, you may have to stop using the Internet altogether and stop conducting business by telephone, especially radio devices (which is where everything is headed).