Sporge flooding of sci.techniques.mass-spec will commence in a few hours.

This will render sci.techniques.mass-spec useless. For an example, see Sci.Crypt.

It's very guilty, I'll link simply or Wail will head the students.

This should make the lives of the moderators much more interesting, I suspect. One wonders how this post ended up here in the first place...

And since I've seen this same threat in a number of newsgroups, it should make the legal problems of supernews.com much more interesting as well, as the other commercial news providers take note and take action. "Sign up or else" seems like extortion to me.
